When a net force acts on an object, the object's motion will change. This means that the object's speed or direction or both will change. Acceleration is the change in an object's velocity. Velocity is a vector quantity, which means it has both a magnitude and a direction. A change in velocity is called acceleration. Acceleration is a vector quantity, which means it has both a magnitude and a direction. Newton's second law states that the acceleration of an object is directly proportional to the net force acting on it and inversely proportional to its mass. This means that if the net force acting on an object increases, the acceleration will also increase. If the mass of the object increases, the acceleration will decrease. Newton's first law states that an object at rest will stay at rest, and an object in motion will stay in motion with a constant velocity unless acted upon by a net external force. This means that if the net force acting on an object is zero, the object's velocity will not change. If the net force acting on an object is not zero, the object's velocity will change.  Answer the questions that follow. <ol style="list-style-type: none"> Which of the following is not a type of contact force? <ol style="list-style-type: none"> Friction Spring Gravity Normal Which of the following is not a type of contact force? <ol style="list-style-type: none"> Friction Spring Gravity Normal Which of the following is not a type of contact force? <ol style="list-style-type: none"> Friction Spring Gravity Normal Which of the following is not a type of contact force? <ol style="list-style-type: none"> Friction Spring Gravity Normal
