Connecting Science and Engineering Education Practices in Meaningful Ways Leonard A. Annetta,James Minogue,2016-03-02 The need for a scientifically literate citizenry one that is able to think critically and engage productively in the engineering design process has never been greater By raising engineering design to the same level as scientific inquiry the Next Generation Science Standards NGSS have signaled their commitment to the integration of engineering design into the fabric of science education This call has raised many critical questions How well do these new standards represent what actually engineers do Where do the deep connections among science and engineering practices lie To what extent can or even should science and engineering practices co exist in formal and informal educational spaces Which of the core science concepts are best to leverage in the pursuit of coherent and compelling integration of engineering practices What science important content may be pushed aside This book tackles many of these tough questions head on All of the contributing authors consider the same core question Given the rapidly changing landscape of science education including the elevated status of engineering design what are the best approaches to the effective integration of the science and engineering practices They answered with rich descriptions of pioneering approaches critical insights and useful practical examples of how embodying a culture of interdisciplinarity and innovation can fuel the development of a scientifically literate citizenry This collection of work builds traversable bridges across diverse research communities and begins to break down long standing disciplinary silos that have historically often hamstrung well meaning efforts to bring research and practice from science and engineering together in meaningful and lasting ways English Learners at Home and at School Joyce W.

Nutta,2022-10-18 The engaging profiles of English Learners at Home and at School offer access to a deeper and broader understanding of the lived experiences of English learners and their families Such knowledge is essential for all educators in order to anticipate the needs of and best support English learners In this highly readable volume Joyce W Nutta helps to build the bridge of knowledge and empathy between teachers and the English learners they support In an inspired approach to the topic she presents six compelling portraits of English learners who come from different cultural backgrounds and who are at different points in their educational journeys from preschool to community college Informed by real life observations extensive interviews and academic research these lively portrayals highlight issues and concerns that commonly arise in multicultural and multilingual learning and teaching Nutta accompanies each profile with details on the specific cultural linguistic and educational factors at play and offers sound practical guidance for supporting English learner achievement in classrooms She suggests educational strategies including establishing dual language classrooms adapting instruction and inviting parent participation that can scaffold English learners academic success English Learners at Home and at School will help educators develop a better awareness of all their students even those who come from backgrounds vastly different from their own Atlanta Magazine ,2005-01 Atlanta magazine s editorial mission is to engage our community through provocative writing authoritative reporting and superlative design that illuminate the people the issues the trends and the events that define our city The magazine informs challenges and entertains our readers each month while helping them make intelligent choices not only about what they do and where they go but what they think about matters of importance to the community and the region Atlanta magazine s editorial mission is to engage our community through provocative writing authoritative reporting and superlative design that illuminate the people the issues the trends and the events that define our city The magazine informs challenges and entertains our readers each month while helping them make intelligent choices not only about what they do and where they go but what they think about matters of importance to the community and the region

Flunking Democracy Michael A. Rebell,2018-04-18 The 2016 presidential election campaign and its aftermath have underscored worrisome trends in the present state of our democracy the extreme polarization of the electorate the dismissal of people with opposing views and the widespread acceptance and circulation of one sided and factually erroneous information Only a small proportion of those who are eligible actually vote and a declining number of citizens actively participate in local community activities In Flunking Democracy Michael A Rebell makes the case that this is not a recent problem but rather that for generations now America s schools have systematically failed to prepare students to be capable citizens Rebell analyzes the causes of this failure provides a detailed analysis of what we know about how to prepare students for productive citizenship and considers examples of best practices Rebell further argues that this civic decline is also a legal failure a gross violation of both federal and state constitutions that can only be addressed by the courts Flunking Democracy concludes with specific recommendations for how the courts can and should address this deficiency and is essential reading for anyone interested in education the law and democratic society Teaching Students With High-Incidence Disabilities

Mary Anne Prater,2016-12-29 To ensure that all students receive quality instruction Teaching Students with High Incidence Disabilities prepares preservice teachers to teach students with learning disabilities emotional behavioral disorders intellectual disabilities attention deficit hyperactivity and high functioning autism Focusing on research based instructional strategies Mary Anne Prater gives explicit instructions and strategies for teaching students with special needs and includes
