Important OSHA Standards Contributing to Fewer Workplace Accidents

Standard 1910.132: Personal Protective Equipment: Protective equipment, including clothing, helmets, goggles and other eye protection, must be used when process or environment presents hazards that could cause bodily harm.

Standard 1910.119: Process Safety Management (PSM): Put in place in 1992 to prevent a major unplanned release of a highly reactive, flammable, or otherwise hazardous chemical, PSM has reduced the number of fatalities and injuries that result from major releases of highly hazardous materials by 10,000 percent.

Standard 1910.147: Lock Out-Tag Out: Prohibits the unauthorized reconnection or starting of machinery or equipment until the release of hazardous energy during the servicing or maintenance of the equipment with the "lockout/tagout" method and 50,000 workers each year are using OSHA.

OSHA Inspections: Workplace safety inspections are conducted by OSHA to ensure that employers are complying with OSHA standards. These inspections are conducted by OSHA inspectors who are trained in the use of OSHA standards and are required to complete a citation if a violation is found.
