1. Which two location data sources can locator apps use to determine the position of a mobile device? (Choose two.)

- cellular towers ***
- WiFi hotspots ***
- the sandbox
- remote lock
- an app source

Explanation: In addition to GPS, mobile device locator apps can use cellular towers and WiFi hotspots to determine the position of a mobile device. The device sandbox, remote lock, or an app source (Play Store or iTunes) are other features and functions related to security and app downloading.

2. What are two ways that iOS differs from Android? (Choose two.)

- iOS uses an All Apps button whereas Android uses a Home button.
- iOS has a physical Home button, but Android uses navigation icons. ***
- In iOS, the icon for an app represents the app itself. Deleting the icon in iOS deletes the app. In Android, the icon on the Home screen is a shortcut to the app. ***
- In iOS, apps can only appear on screens, whereas in Android, apps can appear on screens and in folders.
- In iOS, folders are created by dragging one app on top of another app, but in Android folders must be created from the home screen menu.

Explanation: Apple iOS devices have a physical Home button that has many uses. One of the uses of the Home button is navigation between screens. Android uses navigation icons instead of a physical Home button. In addition, much like a Windows OS, apps in Android are represented by icons that are shortcuts to the actual app. In iOS, the icons are the apps. Deleting an icon in Android deletes only the shortcut. However, the entire app is deleted from an iOS device when its icon is deleted.

3. What are two purposes of the passcode lock feature on mobile devices? (Choose two.)

- to help prevent theft of private information ***
- to prevent unauthorized use of the device ***
- to erase all personal data from the device
- to return the device to the default factory state
- to restore and re-synchronize the device
- to remotely lock the device if it is stolen

Explanation: The passcode lock feature on mobile devices helps prevent theft of private information and places the device into a power saving state. Personal data will not usually be erased from some mobile devices unless the number of failed passcode login attempts exceeds a threshold. Remote lock allows the device to be locked from a remote location. A factory reset returns the device to the original operation state when the device was first purchased. Various applications such as email or cloud storage can provide synchronization
