

The American Pageant Chapter 4 Topic Outline

American Life in the 17th Century: 1607-1692

1. Introduction (Setting the Stage)
 - a. As the 17th century progressed, the crude camps of early settlers grew into developed societies, and while natives adapted to sharing the land with colonists, colonists adapted to the new, harsh way of life in the New World. Despite its economic ties with England, the American colonies were developing their own economy in the Atlantic, and regional differences were beginning to surface.
2. The Unhealthy Chesapeake
 - a. During its early settlement, the Chesapeake region (Virginia and Maryland) was difficult to settle and survive in, as it hosted a great number of diseases including typhoid and malaria, diseases which immigrants had not yet developed immunity to.
 - b. Most of the population consisted of immigrants from England, the majority of these people being young white males seeking to make a fortune denied to them by primogeniture.
 - c. As men greatly outnumbered women, it was initially very hard to create many families or have children. When people did manage to wed and create families, many of these did not last long, as disease and starvation pushed many colonists to death.
 - d. By the 16th century, hope had blossomed as the female population rose to close to that of the male one, and native born colonists developed immunities to diseases. Eventually, Virginia became the most populous colony.
3. The Tobacco Economy
 - a. Despite living conditions, the Chesapeake became a prime producer of tobacco as a cash crop, sending millions of pounds to England each year and reaping benefits.
 - i. As the hefty supply of tobacco began to outweigh its demand, thus lowering prices, Chesapeake farmers began to plant more and more over larger plots of land.
 - b. As families could not reproduce quickly enough to naturally form a labor force and African slaves were too expensive, farmers in the Chesapeake relied heavily on indentured servants.
 - i. Through the development of indentured servitude, the headright system was formed. In this practice, landowners who paid indentured servants' passage to the new world gained 50 acres of land for each man brought over. Thus, landowners were able to exploit indentured servants to gain large plots of land.
 - ii. However, flaws in the headright system quickly emerged; indentured servants were only required to work for a set amount of time, and were allowed to roam free after the completion of their service. Many men who were freed from servitude aimed to gain land of their own, but due to the headright system's granting of an abundance of land to masters, freed servants were unable to find land and remained dependant on their masters even after their service was over.
 - iii. As indentured servants could easily leave their masters and seamlessly fit in with other members of society, indentured servitude became an unreliable source of labor.
4. Frustrated Freemen and Bacon's Rebellion
 - a. As time passed, more and more freemen were left without money or land, frustrated over their misfortune. Virginia governor William Berkeley lamented over this multitude of poor, landless men, yet refused to offer help or compensation.
 - b. Tensions came to a breaking point in 1676 when Nathaniel Bacon organized a militia of freemen and attacked natives and tore apart Jamestown, enraged over Berkeley's refusal to act against brutal native attacks or even compensate the poor freemen.
 - c. Berkeley crushed this rebellion after Bacon's death, but this event represented the first signs of the split between wealthy plantation owners and landless former servants.
 - d. Following this event, landowners set their eyes on Africa, seeking a labor force which they could control more tightly.
5. Colonial Slavery
 - a. During early settlement, participating in the slave trade was very costly, and only wealthy plantation owners in the South and West Indies could afford to import them. However, in 1698 the Royal African Colony, responsible for transporting slaves to America, lost its monopoly on the slave trade, allowing colonists to obtain slaves at a far cheaper price.
 - i. This development combined with the unreliability and risk of owning indentured servants drove slave trade up to the point where slaves comprised large portions of America's population, unlike the small percentage of slaves within the population before.
 - ii. Slaves were transported to America via the middle passage, a treacherous route which saw the death of up to 20% of transported slaves just on the journey to America.
 - b. After slaves were transported, "flesh merchants" auctioned them off in slave trade markets in the Middle and Southern colonies.
