

Figure 21.4 Some key stages of development in animals and plants

(a) Animal development. Most animals go through some variation of the blastula and gastrula stages. The blastula is a sphere of cells surrounding a fluid-filled cavity. The gastrula forms when a region of the blastula folds inward, creating a tube—a rudimentary gut. Once the animal is mature, differentiation occurs in only a limited way—for the replacement of damaged or lost cells.

(b) Plant development. In plants with seeds, a complete embryo develops within the seed. Morphogenesis, which involves cell division and cell wall expansion rather than cell or tissue movement, occurs throughout the plant's lifetime. Apical meristems (purple) continuously arise and develop into the various plant organs as the plant grows to an indeterminate size.
