Expert Systems in Finance Noura Metawa, Mohamed Elhoseny, Aboul Ella Hassanien, M. Kabir Hassan, 2019-05-10

Throughout the industry financial institutions seek to eliminate cumbersome authentication methods such as PINs passwords and security questions as these antiquated tactics prove increasingly weak Thus many organizations now aim to implement emerging technologies in an effort to validate identities with greater certainty The near instantaneous nature of online banking purchases transactions and payments puts tremendous pressure on banks to secure their operations and procedures In order to reduce the risk of human error in financial domains expert systems are seen to offer a great advantage in big data environments Besides their efficiency in quantitative analysis such as profitability banking management and strategic financial planning expert systems have successfully treated qualitative issues including financial analysis investment advisories and knowledge based decision support systems Due to the increase in financial applications size complexity and number of components it is no longer practical to anticipate and model all possible interactions and data processing in these applications using the traditional data processing model The emergence of new research areas is clear evidence of the rise of new demands and requirements of modern real life applications to be more intelligent This book provides an exhaustive review of the roles of expert systems within the financial sector with particular reference to big data environments In addition it offers a collection of high quality research that addresses broad challenges in both theoretical and application aspects of intelligent and expert systems in finance The book serves to aid the continued efforts of the application of intelligent systems that respond to the problem of big data processing in a smart banking and financial environment
