Heavy Metal Music and Its Effect on Cramming for Finals

Numerous studies have been conducted regarding environmental factors and their effect on studying and retention of information in preparation for tests. This study looked at the efforts of different background study music choices to see if heavy metal music hampered the retention of information studies. Danzig found that students who listened to their preferred genre, regardless of musical type, performed better than students who listened to genres they did not care for.

Level 1 headings, bold and centered

Literature Review

Judas and Priest studied the correlation between heavy metal music and adolescent behaviors and found that university students who listened to heavy metal were more likely to engage in high risk and law breaking behaviors. However, little research has been done examining the effects of musical choices and the retention of material. Skid and Row found that music could aid in remembering material for those 18 through end of life and encouraged university students to listen to heavy metal while studying for finals in so long as that was their preferred musical genre.

Limitations of the Study Level 2 headings, bold and flushed left

Danzig found several limitations while studying the correlation between musical choices, memory retention and test grades.

Level 3 headings, bold and indented 1/2"

Dishonesty in stated preferred music. The author discovered that many students were reluctant to list their favorite musical genres and performers due to fear of ridicule from other |
