Chapter A Changing Landscape:

The Changing Landscape of a Utopia Shmuel Burmil, Ruth Enis, 2011 This book appears on the 100 year celebration of the kibbutz movement a century since the establishment of the first kibbutz Deganya Alef in 1910 The kibbutz started as a farming community and over the years has defined and developed its unique ideology of social and economic aspects of self rule equality mutual responsibility and common ownership of the means of production The kibbutz that some define as an utopian community has gradually developed into a community with diverse means of production including leading international industries The book describes the development of the unique system of zoning with landscape and gardens that strongly reflect the ideology This uniqueness was developed while rooted in the Western international tradition of landscape architecture with planners and designers educated mainly in central Europe The book describes the different periods and styles in the development of the kibbutz landscape as well as some of the main landscape issues and elements such as the dominant tree species and the circle It also describes in detail some of the key people involved in the development of the kibbutz landscape and gardens landscape gardeners landscape architects and kibbutz gardeners The dramatic political and economic changes that occurred in Israel have not bypassed the kibbutz for they caused changes in kibbutz ideology and the community s social and economic structures These changes and the changes that they have caused and are still causing in the kibbutz landscape are carefully detailed in the last chapter The dramatic changes in the kibbutz landscape have also led to a discussion of of the need for landscape conservation as well and some examples are described

Livestock in a Changing Landscape, Volume 1 Henning Steinfeld, Harold A. Mooney, Fritz Schneider, Laurie E. Neville, 2013-03-06 The rapidly changing nature of animal production systems especially increasing intensification and globalization is playing out in complex ways around the world Over the last century livestock keeping evolved from a means of harnessing marginal resources to produce items for local consumption to a key component of global food chains Livestock in a Changing Landscape offers a comprehensive examination of these important and far reaching trends The books are an outgrowth of a collaborative effort involving international nongovernmental organizations including the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization UN FAO the International Livestock Research Institute ILRI the Swiss College of Agriculture SHL the French Agricultural Research Centre for International Development CIRAD and the Scientific Committee for Problems of the Environment SCOPE Volume 1 examines the forces shaping change in livestock production and management the resulting impacts on landscapes land use and social systems and potential policy and management responses Volume 2 explores needs and draws experience from region specific contexts and detailed case studies The case studies describe how drivers and consequences of change play out in specific geographical areas and how public and private responses are shaped and implemented Together the volumes present new sustainable approaches to the challenges created by fundamental shifts in livestock management and production and represent an essential resource for policy makers industry managers and academics involved with this issue     The Changing Landscape of Work and Family in the American Middle Class Elizabeth Rudd,Lara Descartes,2008-01-01 The Changing Landscape of Work and Family in the American Middle Class explores the dynamics of the modern American family and how they have adapted to the changing economy and culture Contributors from a variety of disciplines redefine the concept of the model American family and provide well researched insight into what the new standards for judging family life and its functionality will be     The Changing Landscape of School Leadership M. Scott Norton,2015-12-31 The primary focus of the book is to emphasize the major changes in the leadership responsibilities of the school principal and to underscore the necessity for them to gain new knowledge and skills in order to direct their leadership toward meeting the new changes in school community goals and objectives M Scott Norton emphasizes the fact that contemporary issues and problems must be viewed as symptoms of change The symptoms represent administrative tasks that must be attacked by implementing the primary reason that the school principal is hired that of leading on going change The leader s responsibility focuses on school purposes as set forth in a viable school mission statement The school s mission statement that all too often is set forth as a public relations perspective must instead set forth answers to questions such as What is our purpose Why does our school exist What is our reason for being here How do we meet the on going changes that face us educationally The leadership of the school principal attacks the symptoms of change by collaborating with the school s faculty to set forth a mission to which all members can commit Collaboration infers a unification of members commitments toward the primary purposes of the school Collaboration and opportunities to confer on an on going basis are established Although the school principal s hands are often tied by such factors as lack of resources underfunded unfunded mandates inability to hire and retain highly qualified personnel and constantly changing program requirements related to student testing and teacher performance evaluation this book places emphasis on the principal s need to become a visionary change agent in order to attack the ever changing symptoms of educational change     Hard Labour? Academic Work and the Changing Landscape of Higher Education Tanya Fitzgerald,Julie White,Helen Gunter,2012-01-05 Drawing on data from Australia England and New Zealand this book addresses how neo liberal policies of successive governments have decreased autonomy of academics and increased regimes of surveillance radically altering how academics think about and engage in their intellectual work     The Changing Landscapes of Rome's Northern Hinterland Helen Patterson,Robert Witcher,Helga Di Giuseppe,2020-09-03 This study presents a new regional history of the middle Tiber valley as a lens through which to view the emergence and transformation of the city of Rome from 1000 BC to AD 1000 Setting the ancient city within the context of its immediate territory the authors reveal the diverse and enduring links between the metropolis and its hinterland     Changing Landscapes in Urban British Churchyards Sylvia E. Thornbush,Mary J. Thornbush,2020-04-27 his interdisciplinary reference work presents a linked consideration to the reader of physical cultural physicocultural representations of headstones located in urban churchyards in England and Scotland The geomorphology of landscapes relevant to these locations is explained with the help of detailed case studies from Oxford and Edinburgh The integrated physiocultural approach addresses the conservation of the archaeological record and presents a cross temporal perspective of landscape change of the headstones as landforms in their landscape as part of deathscapes The physical record of headstones is examined in the context of both cultural representation and change In this way an integrated approach is employed that connects the physical natural and cultural social records kept by historians and archeologists over the years Changing Landscapes in Urban British Churchyards is of interest to geomorphologists historians and scholars interested in understanding landscaping studies and cultural nuance of specific historical urban sites in England and Scotland Ontario Geography ,1990 Conservation Trusts Sally K. Fairfax,Darla Guenzler,2001 In the wake of the Exxon Valdez oil spill a conservation trust helped stabilize and regenerate the damaged area When bird habitats along the Platte River were threatened by Grayrocks Dam a similar trust came to their rescue And if a family wants to protect its land for future generations establishing a trust may be the best solution For more than a century bequests of land and funds for environmental protection have been common but in recent decades the trusts used to address conservation issues and resolve environmental disputes have diversified and grown significantly This book examines a variety of conservation organizations built on or close to trust principles some government creations some private some combinations of the two to explain how conservation trusts are created and how they work It explores strengths and weaknesses of the trust concept considers the widespread use of land trusts and presents case studies that both illustrate successes and give instructive examples of potential pitfalls Drawing on cases from Maine to Hawaii the authors examine the different kinds and configurations of trusts They consider government trusts that blend federal state and local agencies into a single entity or that derive funding from outside legislative and executive channels trusts established by government and private cooperation to share responsibility for jointly held and managed resources and trusts established by private organizations and families For each type they explain why each is created how it operates and whether it has been proven effective They also address the important issue of accountability and consider when a trust is not the answer to a problem As more Americans reject federal control of land in favor of local determination land trusts have become the most popular tool for the preservation of land habitats and species And as the sharing of authority among public private and diverse government partners becomes more prevalent sound guidelines for establishing effective trusts are critical This book shows how the trust template provides an invaluable approach for future conservation efforts and is a primer for anyone involved in environmental management
